Apparition of Roosevelt at Convention Will Not Down

SITUATION MUDDLED

Hughes Leaders Express Confidence But Jurist is Far Short of Number of Votes

Chicago, June 7—The Republican and the Progressive National Conventions both assembled today without any indication that the leaders have found the common ground on which they hoped to establish unity. Three days of almost constant conferences have failed to bring the Republicans and the Progressives to an agreement on a man for the Presidential nomination.

A half dozen names any one of which is acceptable to the Republicans have been rejected by the Progressives, who have proposed practically no name but Colonel Roosevelt

Not since the party was born, has there been such a lack of cohesive leadership among the Republicans, and the oldest convention observers declare they never have seen such a general lack of enthusiasm.

Hughes leaders, remaining confident in their predictions that the Justice will be nominated on an early ballot, were lining up their forces last night, surveying the effect of the drive upon them by the allied favorite sons and recruiting unpledged delegates from the latest arrivals.

Progressive leaders, unwilling to say, if they could, whether the Col. would support the Justice, continued to carry on their first choice for Mr. Roosevelt as their first choice. Yesterday George B. Cortelyou, a former member of a Roosevelt Cabinet, arrived here and joined William Loeb, Jr., and George Von L. Meyer both former members of the Colonel's official family, to comprise a Roosevelt steering committee within the Republican convention itself.

The Republican managers, pressed by the Progressives to hurry their nominations and disclose their candidate if they hope to bid for Colonel Roosevelt support and prevent a Progressive ticket from taking the field, have been given notice through Senator Smoot that they can expect no nomination in the Republican convention before Friday. Senator Penrose addressing the Pennsylvania delegation today, declared that nominations for President would not be made before late on Saturday.

The most that can be said about developments of the day is that there has been a general tightening in the various organizations in preparation for the test of strength not so near. The supporters of Hughes have been counting noses. Speaking for them, Frank H. Hitchcock estimated the Justice would receive about 300 votes on the first ballot, and predicted that the Hughes vote would grow rapidly after the preliminary ballot.

Florida decided during the day to cast her solid vote for Hughes and stay with him to the end. A poll of Kansas is reported to give nine votes for Hughes. From New Jersey Hughes' managers expect to get at least 17 votes, the Rhode Island delegation of 10 is reported solid for Hughes, and substantial gain were claimed in Connecticut and other states.

If a ballot had been taken last night the consensus of opinion it would be about as follows: Hughes, 216; Weeks, 160; Roosevelt, 98; Cummins, 81; Fairbanks, 80; Burton, 70; Sherman, 58; Knox, 51; Root, 42; Lafollette, 28; Scattering, 54; Total 983.

This excludes two delegates from the District of Columbia who were unseated by the National Committee but will take their case before the Credentials Committee.

The allies generally concede that Mr. Hughes was in the lead, but the fact that he occupies this advantageous position was not allowed to stand in the way of their efforts to hold their forces in hand. Their plan is to prevent an early stampede to the Hughes column in the hope that delay may bring into submission some new element which would weaken him and promote the prospects of some one of the other candidates.

ENTOMBED GIRLS LIVE

Mother Feared Light Would Kill Her —Had Daughters Hypnotized

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 7—Florence and Frances Weeks, girl vistims of Brooklyn's "living tomb" apartment, will recover their minds and health, according to word just given out at the hospital where they have been cared for since they were rescued from a room in which it is claimed they were imprisoned two years.

Agents of the Children's Society say that when they broke into the second floor apartment of a brown stone house on Stuyvesant avenue they unearthed a tale of ghastly misery more weird than the wildest fiction in the Arabian Nights.

For two solid years Frances Weeks twenty-one, and Florence, twenty, had sat on hard chairs in a pitch black room, while their seventy-year-old mother, Mrs. Emma Hall, tramped ceaselessly up and down, never going out, never letting a ray of sunlight into the room.

Life hummed all around them outside. Neighbors passed up and down the hallway of the mystery apartment These neighbors noticed that the door of Mrs. Hall's apartment was roped and bolted, and never opened. Sometimes they heard strange, plaintive cries from within. But nobody ever came out.

Twice a week a strange, little old man would come to the door, whisper through the crack beneath it, and leave packages of food.

Finally the neighbors reported this queer story to the authorities. Children's society agents broke into the apartment after an hour's parley through the keyhole with its mysterious occupants.

"Don't let the light touch me!" the old woman shrieked when the agents finally entered. "Don't let the air touch me! I will die! Don't touch anything! Don't change anything."

The woman was clad in many dresses, one over the other, and wore three night caps with a sunbonnet over them.

Her two daughters, dressed, but with matted and unkempt hair, sat motionless before a table on which was their food, raw meat, raw whites of eggs and some cheap pound cake.

The girls watched the agents with great black eyes, but were too weak to speak or move.

From Mrs. Hall the story was finally obtained. Authorities say she told them her first husband, father of the girls, died when he was forty two. Gradually she had come to believe that if the sunlight touched her she too, would die.

She seemed to gain a weird hypnotic control over her daughters, and shut them up with herself in the sunless prison where they have just been found.

All the shades were pulled down, papers pasted over them, the doors sealed, and paper and wax stuffed in all the keyholes.

Mrs. Hall said, according to the agents, she had not slept for two years and that her daughters had sat all that time on the two straight-backed chairs, their hands folded except when they ate, even sleeping in that posture.

BRIDE SEES HIM DROWN

Young Husband Acts on a Dare and Sinks With Cramps

Bethlehem, Pa., June 6—A woman's dare resulted in the death by drowning in the Lehigh Canal here of A. B. Cotton, a recent graduate of Purdue College. His bride of four months standing on the bank of the canal saw the tragedy and collapsed and is in a serious state.

Cotton, his wife and Mrs. Philip Knobloch, a friend, went for a walk, and when the canal was reached, Mrs Knobloch went in swimming, daring Cotton to do likewise.

Cotton plunged in and almost immediately was stricken with cramps. Mrs. Knobloch, an expert swimmer, went to his rescue, but Cotton proved too heavy and sank. He was 25 years old.

PROGRESSIVES IN CONFERENCE

Mapping Out A Program For Their National Convention

LEADERS URGE DELAY

Arguments Made That Republicans Should Be Given Chance to Make Their Nomination.

Chicago, June 6—A final pre-convention conference of Progressive national committee-men, state chairmen and delegation chairman was held last night. Chairman Murdock of the National Committee, and many of the leaders made speeches urging that no nomination be made by the convention until Friday. Enthusiastic applause was given Chairman Murdock and the conferees left confident that precipitate action in the convention could be prevented.

Chairman Murdock said after the conference that after today's preliminaries he was sure the platform would be considered most of Thursday and nominations not reached until Friday.

It was also decided to postpone opening of today's session from 11 o'clock until noon.

George W. Perkins last night reiterated his opinion that the Progressive convention would not nominate a candidate until there had been time for full conference in accordance with the declaration of the Progressive national committee last January.

"We said last January," declared Mr. Perkins, speaking for the Progressive national committee, "that we would have a proper exchange of views with Republican leaders before we attempted to nominate a candidate. Simple courtesy requires us to give opportunity for an exchange of views before a nomination is attempted."

At the meeting the conferees almost to a man leaped to their feet and enthusiastically applauded Murdock's speech advocating orderly, temperate and deliberate conduct of the convention. A discordant note came later, however, when Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart, of Massachusetts, urged the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt on the opening day, if the delegates were so disposed, and entirely in disregard of the Republican convention's action.

Mr. Perkins, who had planned to address the conference, was unable to be present, but William Hamlin Childs, of Brooklyn; Elon R. Hooker, of New York, and many others strongly argued against precipitate action.

Mr. Childs counselled that the Progressives give the Republicans every opportunity to negotiate for harmonious action upon candidates. He also said that if it was evident that the Republicans were acting unfairly, the Progressives should then proceed. He pointed out that the Progressives could act much quicker than the Republicans because of their apparent unity upon a single presidential nominee.

Chairman Murdock urged the chairmen to use their influence with their delegations to insure "ordinary and orderly" convention procedure.

FREE KINDERGARTEN

The Free Kindergarten board met yesterday morning at 301 S. St. Asaph Street. The president reported a very successful session. The school closed last week with a beautiful and interesting program. A large number of pupils and many parents were present. Ice cream and cake were served after the exercises. The Kindergartener Miss Wiedemen and her assistant Miss Daisy Howell have done efficient work with the children mother's during the year. Contributed have been gratefully received from Mr. Edmund Burke, Boston, Mass., $10.00; Mrs. R. F. Knox, city, $1.00; Mrs. Raymond Hulfish, Havre Montana, $1.00.

Funeral services for Thomas L. Finks, who died Monday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, from his late residence 1305 King St.

NORTH SEA NAVAL BATTLE.

British and Germans Make Counter Claims Regarding Sea Fight

London, June 7.—Claims and counter-claims continued to be put forth today both here and in Berlin regarding last Wednesday's North Sea battle.

The German admiralty issued a statement asserting that besides the British super-Dreadnought Warspite, reported sunk in the original German official account, the 27,000 ton armored cruiser Princess Royal, the protected cruiser Birmingham, and the destroyer Acasta, were destroyed according to "evidence given by British sailors picked up by German ships". The British admiralty denied this, adding again that there were no British losses beyond those officially published.

The British admiralty in a statement declared that inasmuch as all British submarines that participated in the North Sea battle have returned to their base, the one which the German officially reported lost must have been a German and not a British craft.

Another semi-official account of the battle was published in Berlin this afternoon. In this it is for the first time admitted that the force engaged by the German high seas fleet at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of May 31, consisted of only four cruisers.

REPORTER BRYAN ON HAND,

Reverses Usual Order and Does the Most of the Talking.

Chicago, June 7.—Regardless of what anybody was busy with around the Congress Hotel lobby yesterday afternoon he dropped it the minute a man wearing one of the last of the vintage frock coats still at large in this country, black felt statesman's hat and white bow tie entered.

He was Reporter Wm. Jennings Bryan, who is in town to write pieces about the Republican convention for some sort of news syndicate or other. There were no cheers for Reporter Bryan, but hundreds of delegates and others, Republican and Progressive, pressed about him to get a close view, and many reached to shake his hand.

Reporter Bryan called to see Governor Whitman for a few minutes and had a short social chat. He would help Governor Whitman in any way he could, said the cub reporter to the Governor of New York. Governor Whitman said: "Thank you," but at the moment he knew of no task to which he could assign the Nebraska correspondent.

Reporter Bryan also visited the Progressive headquarters, where he seemed less at ease. He likewise visited Frederick C. Tanner, Mr. Bryan and Mr. Tanner being old friends.

LATE YUAN SHI KAI.

Rumors of Suicide of Chinese President Denied.

Peking, June 7.—Yuan Shi Kai, president of the Chinese republic, who died yesterday, had been ill for several days with stomach trouble, which was followed by a nervous breakdown. Quiet prevails in the capital. The death of the president apparently solves the heated political crisis. Li Yuan Hung's succession to the presidency meets the demands of the leaders in the southern provinces.

Yuan Shi Kai died at 1 o'clock yesterday morning in the palace, surrounded by his wife and older children. Rumors that he committed suicide are denied stoutly by high officials.

Li Yuan Hung will take the presidential oath today. The Chinese are rushing into the legation quarters taking their valuables with them and engaging hotel accommodations there.

SUFFRAGISTS ARE DIVIDED

American Association Opposes Woman's Party On Amendment

WILL HINDER CAUSE

Organization of New Political Party Completed—Both Sides Will join in the Parade.

Chicago, June 7—Rival national suffrage organizations meeting in Chicago yesterday to perfect plans for an assault upon the resolutions committee o fthe Republican National Convention tonight cheered the early and favorable returns from the Iowa election, heard reports of progress from many states, contemplated gloomily the prospect of rain for the suffrage parade today and adopted opposite courses to be pursued in campaigns for votes.

The Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, meeting at the Blackstone Theatre, completed the organization of the Woman's party, with the adoption of the Susan B. Anthony amendment as the only plank in its platform, and appointed a committee to see about having the plank incorporated into the Republican platform. In speeches and resolutions it presented the amendment as the best means of securing the enfranchisement of women and called upon President Wilson to use his influence to secure its adoption.

In the Princess Theatre an assembly called by the National American Woman Suffrage Association went on record as opposed to a campaign for an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for woman suffrage and cheered a statement by Mrs Carrie Chapman Catt, who presided, that suffrage should be sought by women wherever an "open door could be found." Mrs. Catt said:

"The surrender to suffrage, if I am a prophet, will come within the next two years. I prophesy that the vote will come to us, as it did to the men in this country, like the sudden result of a battle.

"Common sense and diplomacy directs us to adopt a plank on which we can all agree, to an indorsement of the cause of which we are all at work. They who are asking for a Federal amendment are asking for half a loaf. We are asking for the whole loaf."

Opposition to the Susan B. Anthony amendment was expressed by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and others and early in the session a resolution to be presented to the resolutions committee of the Coliseum convention asking for a plank favoring woman suffrage was adopted.

The afternoon session of the Women's party convention was devoted to adopting a platform, the election of a campaign committee, and the adoption of a report on resolutions, which will be sent to Washington. Speeches were made by Mrs. William Kent, of California, and Mrs. Sara Bard Field, Oregon, and committee reports were received.

The tenor of the meeting was contained in one clause of the resolutions which expressed the intention of the Woman's party to hold responsible "any party which refuses to do justice to women by placing them on a plane of equality with men in the Constitution of the United States.

The organization of the Woman's party was completed by the election of the following officers of a campaign committee: Chairman, Miss Anne Martin, Nevada; first vice-chairman, Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, California; second vice-chairman, Mary Bertleme Chicago; secretary, Miss Mabel Vernon, Nevada; alternate, Miss Lina Brown, Colorado.

The platform adopted provides for the main object of securing the passage of the suffrage amendment, the organization of state branches of the party, and the election of national officers, an executive committee and advisory council.

Although the parade to be held this afternoon is in charge of the National Woman Suffrage Association, members of both camps will participate in it.

A steady downpour of rain last night prompted the announcement that the parade would be held regardless of the state of the weather. Twenty thousand women are expected to be in the line of march.

The statement to be presented to the resolutions committee of the Republican National Convention, embossed on vellum, will be carried in the parade.

HEARS PAPA SHOOT MAMMA.

"Oh, You Brute," Says Nine-Year-old, Then Phones Doctor

Red Banks, N. J. June 7.—As the outcome of a quarrel during an automobile ride Sunday morning Frank Hodges, an insurance adjuster, it is alleged, shot his wife shortly before noon Sunday, at their home on Branch avenue. Three shots were fired, one taking effect in the left temple. Their nine-year-old daughter, Dorothy, who was playing jacks in front of the house, heard the shots and met her father coming down stairs from the second floor front room.

"Have you shot my mamma?" cried the little girl. 'I've done it,' Hodges, as he continued out through the front door and across the street to the home of Fred Wagner, whom he told he had just shot his wife and to send for the police. "Oh, you brute," cried Dorothy. Hodges went to his barn and later walked to the borough hall, where he gave himself up.

Little Dorothy in the meantime, telephoned for Dr. H. W. Young, who found Mrs. Hodges lying unconscious on the floor bleeding profusely from a wound in the left temple. She was taken to the Monmouth Memorial Hospital at Long Branch, where she is not expected to survive, Assistant Prosecutor Geran and County Detective McCormick and Smith arrested Hodges, who waived a hearing and was committed to the county jail at Freehold to await the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of atrocious assault with intent to kill. Should his wife die, the charge will be changed to murder.

COURT OF APPEALS

Wytheville, June 7—The Supreme Court of Appeals opened here yesterday with Judges Cardwell, Harrison, Whittle and Kelly sitting.

A petition by Davis Bottom and others against C. Lee Moore, Auditor of Public Accounts, for mandamus, was presented to the court without argument. This matter involves the constitutionality of the act of March 24, 1916, increasing the salaries of certain officers during the terms of their offices.

Ella Eddy vs. the Commonwealth, the first case called, was argued by A. B. Hunt for plaintiff in error and the Assistant Attorney General for the Commonwealth and submitted.

Gervesse Williams vs. the Commonwealth, error confessed by Attorney General, was another case.

On the civil docket were: Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company vs. Tinsley, argued by Randolph Harrison for plaintiff in error and J. L. Lee, for defendant and submitted; Overstreet, et al vs. Griffin, argued by William Eubank for appellant and S. V. Kemp for appellee and continued until tomorrow morning.

The next cases to be called are: Wheat, et al vs. Wheat, et als.; Halsey's executor vs. Fulton; Farmers Bank of Southwest Virginia vs. McGavock, et als; Munsey vs. Updike; Hopkins vs. Givens; Board of Supervisors of Tazewell vs. Norfolk and Western Railway Company.

DEFEAT DOMINICAN REBELS.

Monte Christi, Dominican Republic, June 7. — Rebel forces under Gen. Desiderio Arias attacked the United States marines here Tuesday afternoon, but were signally defeated without the loss of a single American life. The rebels left seven dead on the field. It is believed others were killed and many wounded, and that the Arias forces in their retreat carried the other dead and wounded with them.

Col. Theodore P. Kane, of the United States marine corps, pursued the retreating rebels who are endeavoring to join the main body of the Arias troops at Santiago de Los Caballeros. News of further fighting between the American forces and the rebels there is momentarily expected.

TORNADOES TAKE TOLL OF 126 LIVES

Hundreds Injured and Enormous Damage Done To Property

REPORTS INCOMPLETE

Large Portions of Sections in South Suffering From Storm is Cut Off From Communication.

Death lists in the storm-swept section of Arkansas, Missouri, Mississippi and Illinois grew hourly as belated reports were received from communities which suffered in a series of tornadoes Monday night early yesterday. Late today the deaths of 126 persons had been reported, a number of other persons were unaccounted for and believed dead, and several hundred had been injured. Accurate estimates of proporty damages were not available, but all figures ventured by propjerty owners ran into the hundreds of thousands. Incomplete tabulations showed the following deaths; Arkansas, 76; Missouri, 30; possibly more; Mississippi, 15; Illinois, 1.

Tennessee, four, with a score missing in the overturning of the Mississippi River packet Elmore.

The casualties in Arkansas were from every sector. Scarcely a county escaped the path of the twisters, which traversed the entire State. Many of the casualties in Arkansas and Mississippi were Negroes. In Missouri the Poplar Bluff section was devastated.

YELLOW, PURPLE AND GOLD .

Chicago, June 7.—Yellow, purple and gold was the predominating color scheme in today's suffrage parade here. Most of the 40,000 women paraders wore coats and skirts of white serge and white canvas shoes. A tri-colored cockade of gold, white and purple adorned a white silk taffeta covered straw hat. The hat cost $5. Bunting flags with the tricolor were also carried by the paraders.

COMMITTEE IS DEFIED

Proprietors of Alexandria Moving Picture Shows Open Again Last Night

Proprietors of moving picture theatres, which opened their doors last night in spite of the orders of the health committee of Alexandria, will be tried this afternoon at 4 o'clock at a special session of the police court on the charge of violating the order of the committee. A warrant was issued this morning on the request of Samuel G. Brent, Commonwealth attorney, at the instigation of Police Sergeant Roberts, who informed the attorney that the city lay relative to the closing of the theatres during the so called scarlet fever epidemic was being violated. Mr. Brent applied for a state warrant as the state law govern in cases of violations of the city health laws and regulations. Mr. Brent stated this morning that he had not been requested to act by the health committee of city council.

The case will be tried this afternoon before acting Police Justice Luther H. Thompson. The Alexandria Amusement Co. will be represented by Attorneys James R. and H. B. Caton, Judge J. K. M. Norton and H. Noel Garner. Mr. Brent will represent the commonwealth.

The moving pictures theatres opened their doors last night and the performances were attended by large audiences. No attempt was made by the police to molest the management or the employees.

The city health committee held a meeting yesterday afternoon at which Councilman A. D. Brockett presided. They considered the communications from the Alexandria Amusement Co. and from the City School Board, and decided to keep the schools and places of amusement closed for the present, but it was stated that the ban would be lifted as soon as they thought conditions warranted it.

CONDITIONS ON BORDER

More Raids By Mexican Bandits Anticipated

San Antonio, Tex., June 7—Gen. Funston announced last night that he had what appeared to be positive information that Luis de la Rosa was marching from a point south of Laredo in the direction of the border with the evident intention of raiding the country somewhere west of Rio Grande City.

There are not now in that district enough American troops to prevent De La Rosa and his men from crossing.

To the east of Laredo in Zapata county, across the southern boundary of which De la Rosa is expected to move, there is only one troop of American cavalry.

At just what point on the border the Mexicans intend to strike was not learned and it was not announced just how far away they were, but they were said to be comparatively near.

If De la Rosa and his men reach the Rio Grande before American troops can head them off, enough force will be sent against them to drive them back into Mexico and it was intimated, to run them down on Mexican soil.

De la Rosa was one of the leaders of the group that directed the raids west of Brownsville a year ago. Since then he has been a fugitive in his own country, with a price of $1,000 on his head, offered by the State of Texas.

Washington, June 7—The War Department received no report from Gen. Funston last night regarding the activities of Luis de la Rosa, but officials were confident that the border commander had taken whatever steps were necessary to prevent a raid into American territory. De la Rosa's movement have been closely watched for weeks, and Gen. Funston undoubtedly is prepared, officials believe, for quick protection of any border point the bandit leader could reach.

Although Secretary Lansing has begun drafting a reply to Gen. Carranza's demand for withdrawal of American troops from Mexico, its preparation had not progressed far enough for submission at yesterday's cabinet meting and Mexico was not discussed. Neither the State or War departments had any new dispatches bearing on the situation.

RESULT OF KITCHENER'S DEATH

Demand for Internment of All Enemy Aliens in Great Britain Also Made

London, June 7—A marked stimulus to recruiting today—the last day under the voluntary group syatem—and a general demand for the internment of all enemy aliens in Great Britain, regardless of age, sex, or naturalization, are the immediate results of the death of Lord Kitchener.

There is possibility of a political struggle in the background concerning the appointment of his successor this lies in the fact that some believe the post should go to a civillan, while others are for the appointment of a military man, preferably Sir William Robertson, chief of staff.

He could not serve as secretary of state for war without being raised to the peerage of occupying a seat in the House of Commons.

One Commoner has already expressed willingness to yield his seat to Robertson. Still a third way would be to appoint a peer with the understanding that Robertson have full sway.

Lloyd-George, minister of munition, is one civilian who has been spoken of for the place.

The demand for the interment of aliens grows out of the fact that belief is almost Britain-wide that the Germans knew exactly of the movements of Lord Kitchener. The Morning Post says:

"Circumstances point at espionage at treachery and the country will suspect this the more owing to the singular freedom still allowed to enemy subjects of Great Britain."

The Northcliffe group of papers asks that interment of aliens of belligerent origin take place at once.

The Northcliffe papers, too, in their editorial on Kitchener in the main in accord with all others in their warm praise of his work.

The Morning Post urges Lord Milner at Kitchener's logical successor, and holds that the appointment of Lloyd-George would be a mistake.

Widow Wants Louis W Hill Made Administrator

St. Paul, June 7—James J. Hill, the railroad builder, left no will. His widow yesterday filed a petition in Probate Court asking that Louis W. Hill, a son, be appointed administrator of the estate, the value of which is placed in the formal petition at $10,000,000. The petition was signed also by the eight children.

Just what the estate will aggregate is a question that will be determined only after the administrator has spent a number of months examining securities and holdings. It was intimated that Mr. Hill's estate would be managed by the administrator directly, instead of through any institution.

The fact that the Northwestern Trust Company was not joined with L. W. Hill as one of the administrators, it was pointed out, shows the decided manner in which the Hill family had united to hold the properties intact under one head.

L. W. Hill had ben associated with his father in business for 23 years. He has been head of the Great Northern Railroad for seven years and of the First National Bank since it was bought by the Hill interests three years ago.

Mr. L. C. Catlett, of Gloucester County Virginia, accompanied by Master Frederick Jones, is the guest of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Waller in South Lee Street. Mr. Catlett is attending the finals of the Episcopal High School where his son, Mr. L. Carter Catlett, pr., graduated today.

GIRLS' NEW WHITE DRESSES

There are several exquisitely smocked styles with the simplicity and beauty that smocking always suggests and portrays, and many lovely lace-trimmed models with dainty little ruffles. There are high-waisted, long-waisted and regular waistline effects, but the high-waist of Empire Dresses are the most picturesque. A varied showing of materials—sheer white Swiss in plain and figured patterns, fine organdies, soft batistes and voiles. A most complete assortment of White Dresses, at prices that range from $2.95 to $15.00.

Your attention is especially directed to the showing we are making of dresses at $5.00.

RESULT OF THE NORTH SEA BATTLE

While there can be no disputing, nor is there any apparent disposition anywhere to dispute, the fact that the naval battle off the coast of Jutland was a heavy blow to British pride and to British prestige on the water, the concensus of opinion is that the victory won by Germany is chiefly, if not altogether, a moral one. Declaring that there was,even before the supplementary reports began to come in, little reason for speaking of the British defeat in the only way in which we can properly speak of a naval victory or defeat, the New York Evening Post adds: "When a fleet is beaten it loses control of that part of the seas which it attempts to dominate. The outstanding fact in the recent naval battle was that the German fleet delivered a stroke and retreated. The British fleet remained in control of the seas, the German fleet had a successful raid to its credit."

A similar view is expressed by the New York World which characterizes the German victory as "a victory that put them nowhere so far as sea power is soncerned. Their navy is bottled up in the Baltic and in the North Sea, and, while it may make a successful raid now and then , it has been unable to break the bounds of its prison." This view subsequent developments have strengthened rather than weakened.

The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot observes that the importance of the battle from a material standpoint depends, of course, upon the price which the Germans were made to pay, and what that price was is is as yet, in view of the widely conflicting claims, impossible to determine with any degree of exactness. Sunday morning Germany admitted the destruction, in addition to the losses already acknowledged, of the dreadnaught Westfalen. On Monday morning the British Admiralty's claim put the number of German ships sunk at eighteen, including two battleships and two battlecruisers of the super-dreadnaught class, declaring that the German losses were "not only relatively but absolutely greater' than those of the British. What foundation in fact there is for this claim only subsequent developments will tell, but be that as it may and assuming that German losses were only those which Berlin has asknowledged, the control of the North Sea remains exactly where it was before the battle off the coast of Jutland—with the British. This is the one outsanding fact about which there is and can be no question, and it is the fact that really counts in summing up the effect of the battle on the progress of the war.

ENGLAND AGAIN IN SACKCLOTH

When death sealed the eyes of Lord Roberts, Great Britain could exclaim as did one of old, "The chariots of Israel and the horsemen thereof." He paid the debt of nature at a time when his service were most needed. Before the edge of the terrible losses incurred in the recent naval battle with the German fleet in the North Sea could be blunted, a first class naval vessel, bearing Lord Kitchener, another genius upon which Great Britain was relying in her hour of need, together with his staff, is sunk by a torpedo or floating mine, and the great chieftain is made to join Lord Roberts. As a cotmporary says, England staggers at the latest blow administered by the foe; the world outside the warring countries is struck with horror at the latest exhibition of war ferocity. The Germans have made their name more terrible than ever before through their action in sinking the vessel that carried Lord Kitchener and his staff upon a mission to Russia. It may have been a mine, it probably was a torpedo that struck the ship and caused it to sink with the loss of all aboard.

The North Sea battle is in dispute The burden of proof however, rests with England as Germany seems confident that its victory cannot be gainsaid—the Kaiser has decorated the commander of the fleet, he has sent his felicitations to Von Tirpitz and declares that he has visited the returned fleet and is highly gratified at the exhibit. There have been no conferments of honors and dignities by the British government upon its men in the great naval action.

The killing of Lord Kitchener is not a matter of controversy, save as to whether it was by direct action of a torpedo or the indirect action of a bomb. If the latter the occurence comes fortunately for the Germans.

If the former it carries a fierce menace to England.

The death of Kitchener brings forth tribute of the highest worth from his fellow countrymen, in which even the foes of his country at another time would join. For he had been a signal military character with a career of the finest brilliance up to the outbreak of the present war. It was just last week that he was harried by many of the members of the Commons in a private conference because of his conduct of the war. and this probably led to the Russian mission, the fact of which has been disclosed through his death. Thus the great soldier was sent to his death by the criticism of his countrymen.

WAR CLOUD AS BLACK AS EVER

The impression a few weeks ago that the warring nations of Europe were about to reach some understanding by which a patched up peace might follow, has been totally dissipated during the past week. Probably the most sanguinary naval battle ever recorded has taken place in the North Sea, the result of which is in dispute, a large British man-of-war bearing Lord Kitchener has been sent to the bottom and the great chieftain is among those lost. The allies have flatly refused to entertain German ideas of peace, and the nations involved are more determined than ever to fight to a finish.

In the meantime the Russian bear is again loose and is making terrible havoc in the eastern zone, while Italy is blocking the Austrian drive, showing that the country has not been caught napping.

Germany, realizing the impossibility of securing peace upon her terms. announces her determination to keep up the war. The Chancellor hurls defiance at Great Britain, and a bill for another big credit is introduced in the Reichstag.

Although Germany has sacrificed the lives of thousands and lost a number of vessels in order to inflict similar losses on her commercial rival, the English blockade of the Fatherland is as effective as ever, Brittania still ruling the waves.

Fighting at Verdun is the firecest ever known upon the earth. men being mowed down as wheat fields by modern farm machinery. The most powerful telescopes fail to discern the slightest semblance of a silver lining to this rolling black cloud which settled over the old world nearly two years ago.

An explosion in the plant of the United States Incandescent Lamp Company at St. Louis yesterday killed three men and injured three others. Two of the dead were the vice president of the company, Stanley Nomalski, and General Manager R. W. Ferguson.

Three armed bandits broke up a rambling game at the Prospect Social Club in the downtown section of Cleveland yesterday morning. They held up and robbed 40 visitors, relieving them of money variously esimated at from $1,000 to $3,000 and nade their escape.

The Austrians are still being held from further advances and with heavy losses by Italians. In the Valdarsa and Pasubio sectors and on the front between the Posina and Astico rivers, vicious Austrian attacks have been put down, and the Italians have even gained some ground against the Austrians on the western slopes of Monte Cengio.

One hundred and seven lives were lost, hundreds of persons were injured and enormous property damage was done through a large section of Arkansas and in Missouri, Illinois and Mississippi Monday night and yesterday by tornadoes, according to incomplete reports received yesterday, with parts of the storm belt, especially in Arkansas, still to be heard from.

A diving girl act, part of an itinerant show has shocked Coatesville, Pa., and hereafter no carnivals will be permitted to linger there. Clergymen testified at a meeting of the council that he act was "most immoral." Other witnesses said that the diving girls appeared on the platform of the pool garbed in street clothes, and after gazing at the inviting water, deliberately disrobed to a single garment which reached to the thighs. One girl was said to have lost the silk garment during the act.

The cession of Fort Ruppel by the Greek government to Bulgaria and the subsequent advance of King Ferdinand's troops into Greek Macedonia reveal the real intentions of those who are now swaying the destinies of the Hellenic people. The first object of the Bulgaro-Germans and their abettors in Greece is to oust the allies from Saloniki. The problem has now passed from the domain of diplomacy to the military sphere. The subject now is to be continued by Gen. Zerrail in the full measure of the means at his disposal.

Three persons were killed and 4 injured yesterday at Canton, Ohio, when an automobile was demolished by a freight train of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The automobile was carried 600 feet along the track on the engine pilot before the train could be stopped. Two women were thrown out and ground to death under the wheels of the engine. George Roberts met his death in a peculiar manner. He was a mill worker and was on his way to work walking along the tracks. The automobile projecting from the pilot of the locomotive struck him as the train whirled past.

Despite the fact that President Wilson will march on foot in the preparedness parade in Washington on June 14, neither the army nor navy will have any official representation. The civilian employes of the War and Navy Departments will march, but the officers at the head of bureaus will not be in uniform. This was decided yesterday at a conference between Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of the Navy Daniels. Both explained that it has been their policy throughout the preparedness agitation to keep the army and navy, respectively, from being in any way actively identified with the propaganda.

Col. Roosevelt last night emphatically denied that he had sent any message to Chicago agreeing to run on the Progressive ticket if Hughes is nominated by the Republicans. This, however, is not to be interpreted as meaning that Mr. Roosevelt will not be on a third ticket. It is to be taken exactly at its face value. Col. Roosevelt has sent no message of any kind regarding any candidate or relating to any contingency which may arise. No situation has yet arisen making it necessary for Col. Roosevelt to say what he will do with regard to the nomination of Hughes or any other candidate whose name will come before the convention.

One kidney remedy has known merit.

Alexandria people rely upon it.

That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.

Alexadria testimony proves it reliable.

W. Dawson, blacksmith, 409 N. West St., Alexandria, says: "My back was so weak and sore that I could hardly pick anything off the floor.. I couldn't straighten up with out taking hold of something and it nearly killed me to get up in the morning. Sharp, shooting pains caught me in the small of my back and I thought I would have to give up. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from C. J. W. Summers' Drug Store, and after finishing one box, my back felt so strong that I could work all day and not feel any the worse for it.

A SYMBOL OF HEALTH

The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. A red five pointed star appears on each package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and still fulfils its ancient mission as a symbol of health. If you are troubled with indigestion, biliousness or constipation, get a package of these tablets from your druggist. You will be surprised at the quick relief which they afford. Obtainable everywhere.

The Inner Secret of New Post Toasties

A glance at one of these new corn flakes reveals novel, little bubbles which are raised by quick, intense heat of a new process of manufacture.

These bubbles are an identifying feature of these—the only corn flakes with a self-developed, delicious corn flavor—the only flakes that do not have to depend largely on cream and sugar for palatability.

Try some of the New Toasties dry—they're good that way—the children munch them like candy. But of course the delicious new flavor is more pronounced when the flakes are served with sugar and cream.

The New Post Toasties do not waste into "chaff" in the package, and they don't mush down in cream like other flakes. They're a vast improvement over old-fashionned corn flakes and have met with enthusiastic approval everwhere.

RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE.

Capture 25,000 Men, 27 Cannons and 50 Machine Guns.

Petrograd, June 7.—The Russians continue to develop the successes won by their newly inaugurated offensive. It is reported that up to the present time they have captured 480 officers, 25,000 men, 27 cannon and more than 50 machine guns.

The sudden blow struck by the Russians along the entire Galician front of 275 miles from the Pripet to Roumania is, in the unanimous opinion of the military critics here, a brilliant beginning of the long awaited Russian offensive. The condition of the roads now is perfect and with a plentiful supply of ammunition the Russian advance is expected to develop swiftly.

The movement derives significance from the fact that it is not an isolated attack against any one portion of the Austrian lines, but a carefully coordinated movement embracing the whole front. The movement is under the able leadership of Gen. Brussiloff, who conducted the brilliant campaign in the Carpathians in 1914 and who is generally conceded to be one of the best strategists of the Russian staff,

The forces opposing the Russian advance are estimated at 40 Austrian infantry divisions and from 10 to 15 Austrian cavalry divisions, assisted by, at the most, two divisions of Germans. This brings the total Teutonic forces operating on this front up to 600,000 men.

Aside from its military and strategic importance for this front, the Russian movement undoubtedly will have a powerful effect upon the military situation elsewhere, decreasing Austrian pressure on the Italian front from the necessity of bringing reinforcement to this theater, while it also is expected to influence the situation in the Balkans.

Amsterdam, June 7.—Dispatches from Vienna report that a violent battle has been raging during the last 24 hours on the Russian front along a sweep of 300 kilometers (about 200 miles.) The correspondents describe countless waves of Russian infantry being sent into the battle.

Gen. Brussiloff, who is believed to be in command of the Russian forces on this front, seems, according to the advices, to be following tactics pursued by the Russians in the Carpathians, making attacks in mass, in an effort to break through the hostile lines.

J. T. Hall and H. Bradshaw, machinists, employed at the plant of the United Cigarette Machine Company at Lynchburg, while walking on the Southern Railway tracks late yesterday were run down by passenger train 36. Both men were thrown from the track, but escaped serious injury. Hall has a broken rib, and both are bruised.

One night last week, near Lowesville, Amherst county, a white man named Mays was burned to death in his tobacco barn. It is supposed that while Mr. Mays was asleep in the building, some trash became ignited, and when he awoke, the fire had gained too much headway for him to make his escape, the door being locked on the outside. He leaves a wife and several children.

Aviator Steve MacGordon died at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in Newport News hospital as the result of the burning Monday of an aeroplane which he was driving. E. F. Keefer, a student, who was in the machine with MacGordon, was not seriously injured. The engine fell from its bed caused the machine to strike the ground as it was rising, jammed the engine into the gasoline tank, and the machine was totally destroyed by flames.

Although practically all of the States in this Union exact a fe of applicants taking examinations for teachers' license, it is the opinion of the division superintendents of this Commonwealth that the time has not yet arrived for Virginia to adopt such a course. The question was put to a test at yesterday afternoon's session of division superintendents in Richmond when a committee reported in favor of such a fee. Out of seventy or more voting, only eight or ten favored imposing a charge on the applicants.

BRITAIN'S LATEST LOSS

Country Mourning Over Death of Lord Kitchener

London, June 7—All Britain was stunned last night by grief over the tragic loss of Earl Kitchener, who, with his entire staff, was drowned Monday night when the cruiser Hamshire, on which they were voyaging to Russia, was sunk either by a mine or torpedo.

An army order was issued for all officers to wear mourning in memory of Lord Kitchener for a week commencing today.

That the Hampshire was torpedoed by German design is generally discounted. It is believed in the highest circles that the ship either struck a mine or was torpedoed in a chance encounter with a German submarine.

First official news of England's greatest personal loss since the war began was made public by the admiralty just before noon yesterday in the following official statement received from Admiral Jellicoe:

"The commander in chief of the Grand fleet reports with deep regret that H. M. S. Hampshire, Capt. Herbert J. Savill, R. N.., with Lord Kitchener and his staff on board, was sunk Monday night about 8 o'clock, to the west of the Orkney Islands, either by a mine or a torpedo.

"Four boats were seen by observers on shore to leave the ship. The wind was north-northwest, and a heavy sea was running. Patrol vessels and destroyers at once proceeded to the spot, and a party was sent along the coast to search, but only some bodies and a capsized boat have been found up to the present. As whole shore has been searched from the seaward I greatly fear that there is little hope of there being any survivors.

"No report has yet been received from the search party on shore, H. M. S. Hampshire was on her way to Russia."

Accompanying Earl Kitchener as his staff were Hugh James O'Beierne former counselor of the British Embassy at Petrograd, and former minister at Sofia; Col. O. A. Fitgerald, private secretary to the war minister; Brig. Gen. Ellershaw, Sir Hay Frederick Donaldson, technical advisor to the minister of munitions; Lieut. Mcherson, aide; F. S. Robertson, and Detective McLaughling. Officers and men who abandoned the Hampshire numbered between 400 and 500. The casualties probably will total 500.
